Select the Student Award that you wish to nominate the student or nominate yourself for:

☐ Leadership

This national award is bestowed upon the undergraduate student who has exhibited outstanding extracurricular leadership within the DeVry University community.

Criteria:
- May be shown by community/service awards or commendations, including exemplary work in communities before and during DeVry Experience.
- Student demonstrated leadership role, which includes planning, set-up, or implementation of successful campus or community events.
- Winner will likely be someone that has been recognized for their work in the local community.
- Nature of the work for which leadership has been recognized could be such that it would bring credit to both the recipient and the University.

☐ Service

This award goes to the student that has exhibited outstanding extracurricular leadership in the DeVry University community.

Criteria:
- May be shown by substantial efforts outside of class to support the DeVry community and beyond. May be shown by a single, sustained effort, or multiplicity of service projects benefiting the University or the community.
- Winner displays professionalism, passion and charisma in service efforts.
- Whereas the leadership award comes with continuing recognition of leadership ability, the service award honors those who are always there to assist and may be unheralded mentors to the success of service efforts.

☐ Innovation & Impact

This national award is granted to the student who has best exhibited outstanding service to the University community.

Criteria:
- Must include holistic view of project, and must be recognized by internal and external judges and reviewers as exemplary and exhibiting outstanding creativity.
- Project or design(s) should be dynamic and on the leading edge of change.
- These cutting edge ideas should create meaningful new relationships, processes, or concepts.
- Project shows student(s) ingenuity and personal responsibility for creating, designing or taking advantage of new opportunities.

Please state why you feel this student deserves the award in question.
